HEREBY DECLARES

Art. 1 – Subject

A selection procedure is hereby announced for the awarding of no. 1 research contract(s) in accordance with the current Regulations for the awarding of research contracts pursuant to art. 22 of law 240/2010, as specified in Table 1"

TABLE 1
Title of the research project	The principle of foreseeability in criminal law and the interpretative doubt in acquittal formulas as a guarantee to jurisprudential dynamics in malam partem
Specific activities to be performed	The scholar will have to carry out all the activities to achieve the research objectives, the preparatory and organizational activities, the systematic analysis of the institutions and doctrinal and jurisprudential orientations with regard to the theme constituting the object of the research. In particular, these activities – to be carried out, by way of example, through the creation of scientific contributions, the organization of seminar lessons and third mission projects – will have to be conducted with specific attention to the role that the notion/principle of foreseeability will play in the near future of contemporary criminal law, condensing instances of legality and culpability and proposing

	itself as a valid alternative to the jurisprudential dynamics in malam partem. In fact, the same principle involves and renews the debate on classic themes of criminal law: above all, the continuous oscillation between analogy and extensive interpretation, traditionally the object of particular interest also as a line of research of the Chair of Criminal Law of the School of Law of Padova. At the same time, the reference to foreseeability creates continuous connections with the European criminal law – think of the dialogue between the Courts or the divisive notion of ‘matière pénale’ –, encouraging new investigative perspectives, also comparative ones, including the juxtaposition of interpretative doubt with the revision of acquittal formulas.

Art. 3 – Submitting an application

The application to take part in the public selection, as well as the qualifications and the documents and publications and other documentable research products deemed useful for the selection procedure, must be submitted electronically, under penalty of exclusion, using the dedicated application, on the Pica platform page: <https://pica.cineca.it/unipd/> .

Under penalty of exclusion, the application must be signed by the candidate and accompanied by a copy of a valid identity document.

The candidate may also access the application procedure by means of identification through the SPID system (Sistema Pubblico di Identità Digitale) - level 2. In that case, it will not be necessary to sign the application.

In the event of proven technical issues preventing from accessing the service, the Administration reserves the right to accept applications also in paper format, provided that they are received by the deadline of the call for applications.

The application for participation is to be considered in all respects of law as a self-certification pursuant to Articles 46 and 47 of Presidential Decree 445/2000 and subsequent amendments of the data contained therein and of the attached documents.

Those who come from non-EU countries and hold a regular residence permit may use self-certifications with the same methods adopted by EU citizens in case they are required to provide evidence of status, facts and personal qualities that can be certified or attested to by Italian Public Bodies, or if self-certifications are provided in application of international conventions in force between Italy and the candidate's country of origin.

Those who come from non-EU countries and do not hold a regular residence permit may use the online procedure to upload their qualifications in PDF format and certificates, issued by the competent authorities of the State of which they are nationals, accompanied by an Italian translation authenticated by the Italian consular authority certifying their conformity with the original. The originals of these documents must be shown to the committee during the discussion on qualifications and scientific production and, in any case, produced to the Administration at the time of hiring, if this takes place.

Reference cannot be made to documents submitted to this or other administrations, or to documents attached to the application for taking part in another selection procedure.

All qualifications required by the call and documentation deemed useful for the purposes of this selection must be attached to the application for participation in the selection in .pdf format, within the deadline established for the submission of applications.

Candidates with recognized disabilities, pursuant to Law no. 104 of 5 February 1992, must specify in the application the necessary assistance in relation to their status, as well as any need for additional time for the interview.

Failure to appear in person or to connect via telematic means is considered a definitive implicit withdrawal from the selection process.

Being placed on the list of positively evaluated candidates in an evaluation procedure does not constitute a qualification for subsequent evaluation procedures. In case of equal merit, preference is determined by the younger age of the candidate.

The Director's Decree approving the selection acts and the list of candidates positively evaluated with the relative score are published in the University's Official Notice Board, on the University website and on the Department of Public, International and European Union Law - DiPIC website.
